You're Invited: Midstate Electric's 2025 Annual Meeting

It's that time of year again—Midstate Electric Cooperative's annual meeting is right around the corner. Mark your calendar for 9 a.m. Saturday, May 17, when we come together to reflect on the past year, share important updates and chart the course ahead.

This year, we're doing things a little differently.

The business meeting kicks off first thing in the morning, lasting about 30 to 40 minutes, followed by our traditional lunch. Due to unpredictable spring weather, we've decided to move the event indoors to our truck bays, providing shelter while still offering the same familiar Midstate hospitality.

This is a great opportunity to hear from the CEO/general manager and the board president about the current state of the co-op and what's on the horizon. It's also your chance to vote in the board elections and make your voice heard.

Looking ahead to this year's elections, we're excited to share we have one incumbent running unopposed and two races with contested seats. That means we will welcome one—if not two—new board members this year. Fresh perspectives help keep our co-op strong and responsive to its members.

One particularly important item on the ballot this year is a proposed update to the articles of incorporation. These changes are necessary to ensure Midstate remains aligned with current state requirements and to help streamline operations moving forward. Your vote on this matter is essential.

At Midstate, we believe a strong cooperative is built on informed participation and shared responsibility. Every member plays a part in guiding our future, and your involvement ensures we continue to serve our communities effectively and responsibly.

We look forward to seeing you May 17. As always, please remember to vote. Thank you for being an engaged member of your cooperative.
